

Vision on recruitment at Food Sciences

- More and more specialists in Food (Sciences) organisations make a real difference in the industry.
- The production in the Food (Sciences) industry is currently becoming more high-tech. Specialists need to have a more digital background.
- Due to increased regulatory pressure, food production needs to be more sustainable throughout the chain, while increasing yield. As a result technologies like fermentation, lab-grown and extraction are used That requires other sort of specialists.
- Fermentation specialists and cell technologists with a food background are scarce, specialists from another industry such as Biotechnology could be considered.
- These industry developments require other kinds of specialists, other skills and different knowledge. As a result, food companies need to attribute a different recruitment process.

Leading Life Science recruiter

QTC Recruitment aims to be the leading Life Science recruiter in North-Western Europe. The best match is realised by bringing together suitable professionals and starting, expanding and renowned organisations in the Life Science industry

We use our Basic Principles for this >

- Our intention is for them both to reach their goal and grow in their own development
- For permanent Life Science vacancies: successful results within 10 days
- For interim positions within 48 hours
- Extended guarantee included

Your benefits, how we can help you best

Recruitment and Selection >

Life Science recruitment solution for permanent, fixed contract positions. You can choose from three different Recruitment & Selection options.

Introduced to suitable Life Science specialists within 10 days (guaranteed).
Guarantee of up to 9 months included!

Interim positions >

Fastest Life Science recruitment service to get into direct contact with suitable Life Science specialists if you need a temporary professional with experience.

Introduced to specialists with knowledge in a very short term. If necessary, within 48 hours, including guarantee.

RPO services >

With this flexible service, you can (partially) outsource your Life Science recruitment process through a framework contract.

A tailor-made solution for both small and large companies. Choose which parts you would like to outsource and when.

Why you should choose for QTC Recruitment?

Choose for QTC Recruitment when you value

- A specialised Life Science consultant
- Largest (online) Life Science network in North-Western Europe
- Excellent service
- Up to nine months guarantee period
- Best price - quality ratio

References, what our Food customers say

“QTC Recruitment presented professionals in a very short period”

“Since 2016, we have been working on changing NIZO from an ‘old school’ dairy research centre to a more commercial CRO. This change, at that time, was paired with the need for a significant additional number of specialists and technical people. Because the HR-team consisted of only 1,3 FTE, other projects required our full attention and thus we did not have the capacity to find specialists and to appoint them.”

Jurgen Snelders
Division manager

Unburdening, process-based, humour

QTC Recruitment has a very structured way of finding professionals within the Netherlands and beyond. They are good and fast in making themselves aware of other organisations, positions, and stakeholders. unburdening, process-based, humour, QTC Recruitment finds the way.

Greetje Mulder
HR Advisor

Thorough search and selection

QTC Recruitment is a wonderful, people-minded organisation that gets under your skin to find out what inspires, motivates, and triggers you. QTC Recruitment’s open, personal, professional, and inspiring approach makes you want to do business and have a beer with them. I highly recommend them for a role which utilises their strengths to the fullest: a very thorough search and selection of leading professionals in the Food Sciences industry.

Jon van Bremen
Managing Director

“QTC Recruitment stands for the professionals they introduce”

“When a Customer Care Representative left the team, I was assigned to find a new one. Since we were in a candidate-driven market, I decided to ask for help with finding a suitable professional for this position.”

Bart Klomp
Manager Sales, Marketing &
Customer Care

